Palomar Display Products, Inc. awarded a $1.19M Contract from L-3 Cincinnati Electronics

Carlsbad, CA - April 12, 2010 - Palomar Display Products, Inc. announced today that it has been awarded a firm fixed price contract by L-3 Cincinnati Electronics to design and deliver thermal sight displays and operator control panels.

Under the $1.19M contract, Palomar Display Products, Inc. will design and deliver monochrome, high-resolution displays and associated control panels for armored personnel carriers that, once integrated with L-3 thermal sensor, will be delivered to a customer in the Middle East. The display and control panel deliveries will commence in May 2010 and will be completed in May of 2011.

"This contract award represents a significant opportunity for Palomar Display Products to support L-3 Cincinnati Electronics in its pursuit of domestic and international customers," said Palomar Display Products President Dennis Crothers. "This award is a testament of our world-class performance and reputation as a supplier of thermal sight displays for the armored vehicle market".

Headquartered in Carlsbad, California, Palomar Display Products, Inc. is a proven world leader in the development and manufacture of high-resolution tactical targeting displays that are installed on tens of thousands of armored vehicles worldwide.
